Description

Trojmezí is a place where the borders of 3 states meet - Czechia, Poland and Slovakia. It lies in the picturesque Beskydy countryside, in the territory of the villages Hrčava, Jaworzynka and Čierná at an altitude of 568 m above the sea level. It consists of a shared border stone, which is located in a stream bed and three granite monoliths with coat of arms of individual states. From the Polish side it is possible to reach Trojmezí by car by the asphalt road. From the centre of Hrčava there is a marked footpath for Trojmezí (approx. 2 km along the yellow trail), which can be followed by a round trail to Jaworzynka in Poland and back to Hrčava (5 km long).
