Description

The Human Science and Development Park is the most modern interactive human museum in Europe that popularizes science. The museum offers tourists a journey in time and space flight using the latest multimedia solutions to connect the real world to the virtual world. The exhibition presents the history of human development. The "Mirror of Evolution" application allows "incarnation" into the body of our ancestors. The visit to the park takes about 1.5 hours.

Next to the park is JuraPark (entrance to the attraction requires a separate ticket or you can use the same entrance fee to enter both attractions).
